

GLOBAL CAPABILITY CENTRE

Setting up a Global Capability Centre from India

February 2026 · by K. Vishnu Sharma, Partner

The Global Capability Centre model has moved well beyond IT. Finance, accounting and transfer-pricing delivery are increasingly run from India — not to cut corners, but to add reliable, review-ready capacity at a sensible cost.

The question is rarely whether to do it, but how to do it without losing control. The answer is a defined delivery framework: common templates, clear SLAs, review milestones and secure, confidential information handling.

For professional firms, a white-label back-end partner extends the service line without adding headcount. For corporates, a captive-style extension of the in-house team adds surge capacity and consistency.

Quality is a function of partner-led review, not just process. A senior eye on the output is what turns offshore delivery into a genuine capability.

TAG Group runs exactly this as a Global Capability Centre — transfer pricing worldwide, and finance & accounting for clients in the US and UAE — delivered from India with partner-led review.
